TOPCON: New Approaches in Polymer Characterization: Nanocomposites, Block Copolymers and other Nanostructured Materials

October 13-14, 2008, Wilmington, DE

This two-day conference will address recent advances and remaining challenges in understanding these complex systems and will include four invited talks and two invited tutorials. Confirmed invited speakers include:

Prof. Wesley Burghardt	Northwestern University	Flow-induced Alignment in Polymer Nanocomposites
Prof. Ben Hsiao	SUNY Stony Brook	Control of Nanostructures
Prof. Richard Register	Princeton University	Crystallizable Block Copolymers
Dr. Richard Vaia	Air Force Research Laboratory	Responsivity in Polymer Nanomaterials: Structure Property Relationships
Prof. Karen Winey	University of Pennsylvania	Combining STEM and SAXS to Probe the Morphologies in Ion-Containing Polymers
Peter Lillehei	NASA Langley Research Center	New Methods for Imaging Nanocomposites

Exhibitor and Sponsorship opportunities are now available. Make sure your company is seen by the developers of this cutting edge technology.

Exhibitor Opportunities

Tabletop Display - $500

- Premium tabletop display area (with electricity). Focused exposure to specialists in the field during featured refreshment sessions
