

Jason Li

Application Development Manager, Kingfa Sci & Tech (USA) Inc.

An expert in plastic material applications with extensive experience in automotive application development. Jason has been with the Kingfa Group for over 20 years, including 15 years dedicated to the formulation development of automotive TPO compounds. He is currently responsible for the application and development of modified plastics in the North American market.